IMPORTANT NOTICE

Your duty of disclosure and answering questions

Club Marine acts as agent for Allianz in issuing policies and handling claims.

The decision we make on behalf of Allianz whether or not to insure you will depend on the information you give us. Before you enter into an insurance contract with us, we require you to provide us with the information we need to enable us to decide whether and on what terms your proposal for insurance is acceptable and to calculate how much premium is required for your insurance.

We impose a different duty the first time you enter into the policy with us to that which applies when you vary, renew, extend, reinstate or replace your policy. We set these two duties out below.

Your duty of disclosure when you enter into this policy with us for the first time

You will be asked various questions when you first apply for this policy. When you answer these questions, you must:

- give us honest and complete answers,
- tell us everything you know, and
- tell us everything that a reasonable person in the circumstance could be expected to tell us.

Your Duty of Disclosure when you renew, vary, extend, reinstate or replace your policy

When you renew, vary, extend, reinstate or replace the policy your duty is to tell us before the renewal, variation, extension, reinstatement or replacement is made, every matter known to you which:

- you know, or
- a reasonable person in the circumstances could be expected to know, is relevant to our decision whether to insure you and whether any special conditions need to apply to your policy.

What you do not need to tell us for either duty

You do not need to tell us about any matter:

- that diminishes our risk,
- that is of common knowledge,
- that we know or should know as an insurer, or
- that we tell you we do not need to know.

Who do the above two duties apply to?

Everyone who is insured under the policy must answer the questions in this way.

What happens if you or they do not comply with the relevant duty?

If you or they do not comply with the relevant duty, we may cancel the policy or reduce the amount we pay if you make a claim. If fraud is involved, we may treat the policy as if it never existed and pay nothing.

PRIVACY ACT 1993

The Privacy Act 1993 requires us to tell you various things. We collect your personal information to decide whether to provide you with a quote or a policy, to set the terms and conditions of your policy, to compile data and to handle claims. We will also require your personal information to mail you the Club Marine magazine.

Club Marine may need to disclose your personal information to third parties such as Allianz New Zealand Limited, other insurers, loss adjusters and agents, or other parties as required by law.

You have the right to access your personal information and change it at any time. Please contact your nearest Club Marine Office and advise us of the changes. If you do not agree to the collection of your personal information then unfortunately we will be unable to process your proposal.

From time to time we may advise or offer you information on other products or services that may be relevant and of interest to you. If you do not wish to receive these offers or information, please tick the box below or call your local Club Marine office.
